As announced in the Fall issue of The Association for Behavior Analysis newsletter, Don F. Hake unexpectedly died on August 1, 1982. His death was a shock to his friends and an irreplaceable loss to the field of behavior analysis. The Spring, 1983 issue of The Behavior Analyst will publish a collection of statements by his colleagues commemorating his substantial contributions to behavior analysis. He remains listed as the Associate Editor for this issue of The Behavior Analyst because of his extensive effort on its behalf.

Cumulative Index

How To Use The Index

1. Author Index. Entries include general interest articles on theoretical, experimental, and applied topics in behavior analysis, or its applications in other fields. Also included are literature reviews, discussions of previously published work, or reinterpretations of published data. Entries are arranged alphabetically by author. For a particular first author, entries are arranged chronologically without regard to multiple authorship. Cross references to co-authored papers for which the particular author was not first author are grouped together at the end of the chronological listing for that author.
2. Subject Index. Entries are based on all articles within this journal including the above mentioned topics. The authors themselves have determined the subject references to their articles.
3. Tables of Contents. In each of the above indices, articles in this journal are cited by volume, number, and page: (5 (1), 21) represents Volume 5, No. 1, page 21. The author(s) and title for such a citation may be located without leaving the Cumulative Index by consulting the Contents Index, in which articles are arranged by volume, no., and page number.

THE BEHAVIOR ANALYST

invites

Submissions and Subscriptions

The Behavior Analyst is the official journal of the Society for the Advancement of Behavior Analysis. It publishes articles on trends, issues, policies, and developments in the field of Behavior Analysis. It does not publish experimental or applied studies, nor articles on behaviorism as a philosophy.

Past issues of The Behavior Analyst have included the following articles:
Marc N. Branch and E.F. Malagodi, Where Have All the Behaviorists Gone?
B.F. Skinner, How to Discover What You Have to Say—A Talk to Students
Jack Michael, Flight from Behavior Analysis
W. David Pierce and W. Frank Epling, What Happened to Analysis in Applied Behavior Analysis?
Julie S. Vargas, A Behavioral Approach to the Teaching of Composition
T. A. Brigham, Self-Control Revisited: Or Why Doesn't Anyone Actually Read Skinner Anymore?
Robert Epstein, On Pigeons and People: A Preliminary Look at the Columban Simulation Project.
B.F. Skinner, Contrived Reinforcement.
Stan C. Paine and G. Thomas Bellamy, From Innovation to Standard Practice: Developing and Disseminating Behavioral Procedures.

SUBMISSIONS: Manuscripts must be typed double-spaced using APA style, and submitted with the original and five copies. Figures must be in the form of camera-ready art copy or glossy prints. Submissions and correspondence should be addressed to:

James M. Johnston, Editor
Department of Psychology
University of Florida
Gainesville, FL 32611

The Behavior Analyst is provided to all members of SABA. Membership in SABA is open to anyone who pays the annual dues. The Association for Behavior Analysis currently purchases copies of The Behavior Analyst for its membership. If you are a member of the Association, you will receive journal issues for the year of your membership. Members of the Association should address all questions regarding receipt of The Behavior Analyst directly to ABA.

Please enter my subscription to The Behavior Analyst. Make checks/money orders payable to SABA (The Society for the Advancement of Behavior Analysis).

ABA

ASSOCIATION FOR BEHAVIOR ANALYSIS AN INTERNATIONAL ORGANIZATION NINTH ANNUAL CONVENTION

Hyatt-Regency Hotel, Milwaukee, Wisconsin

May 26-29, 1983

ABA has developed specialty areas within the field of behavior analysis. Some of the foremost authorities on behavioral psychology will be making presentations. Specialty area tracks for the 1983 convention are:

- Behavioral Clinical Interventions
- Behavioral Community Psychology
- Behavioral Instruction in Higher Education
- Behavioral Medicine
- Behavioral Observation, Assessment, & Methodology
- Behavioral Pharmacology & Toxicology
- Developmental Disabilities
- Education of Preschool & School-Age Children
- Experimental Analysis
- General Issues in Behavior Analysis
- Organizational Behavior & Systems Analysis
- Social Behavior & Social Skills Training
- Special Education
- Staff, Teacher & Parent Training
- Theoretical & Philosophical Analysis
- Verbal Behavior
- Women's Issues in Behavior Analysis

- POSTER SESSIONS
- INVITED ADDRESSES
- SYMPOSIA
- WORKSHOPS
- CONVERSATION HOURS
- EXHIBITS
- APA Approved Continuing Education Credits

CONVENTION REGISTRATION

The final date for convention pre-registration is May 1, 1983. Early pre-registration is urged due to the limited capacity of workshops.

SUBMISSIONS

The final date for convention submissions to be included in the Program Book is November 6, 1982. Poster presentation submissions only will be accepted after November 6, 1982, and until March 12, 1983.

ABA MEMBERSHIP

Become a member of ABA where you can make contact with your colleagues in the experimental, theoretical and applied analyses of behavior and help promote behavioral psychology.

Call or write the ABA office for information on membership, registration, or program submissions.

JOURNAL OF THE EXPERIMENTAL ANALYSIS OF BEHAVIOR

Readers of the Behavior Analyst and members of ABA are especially invited to examine the list of contents for the first 1983 issue and to enter a subscription for all six 1983 issues.

January 1983

CONTENTS

- Don F. Hake, Tom Donaldson, and Cloyd Hyten. Analysis of discriminative control by social behavioral stimuli.
- John M. Hinson and J. E. R. Staddon. Hill-climbing by pigeons.
- John A. Nevin, Charlotte Mandell, and Jean R. Atak. The analysis of behavioral momentum.
- Charles P. Shimp. The local organization of behavior: Effects of pattern duration on pattern discrimination.
- Donald M. Wilkie. Pigeons' spatial memory: II. Rapid acquisition of delayed matching of key location and transfer to new locations.
- Coleman Paul. Sample-specific ratio effects in matching-to-sample.
- Dianne McCarthy. Measures of response bias at minimum-detectable luminance levels in the pigeon.
- A. W. Logue. Signal detection and matching: Analyzing choice on concurrent variable-interval schedules.
- K. Geoffrey White and Selina Redman. Delayed stimulus control of multiple schedule performance.
- Alliston K. Reid and Robert H. I. Dale. Dynamic effects of food magnitude on interim-terminal interaction.
- Frances K. McSweeney. Positive behavioral contrast when pigeons press treadles during multiple schedules.
- C. Fergus Lowe, A. Beasty, and R. P. Bentall. The role of verbal behavior in human learning: Infant performance on fixed-interval schedules.
- John R. Glowa and James E. Barrett. Response suppression by visual stimuli paired with postsession d-amphetamine injections in the pigeon.
- Donald M. Thompson, J. M. Moerschbaecher, and P. J. Winsauer. Drug effects on repeated acquisition: Comparison of cumulative and non-cumulative dosing.

TECHNICAL NOTE

- Warren W. Tryon. Digital filters in behavioral research.

THEORETICAL ARTICLE

- Russell Taylor and Michael Davison. Matching, undermatching, and reinforcement variance in concurrent variable-interval schedule performance.

RATES (calendar year; 6 issues):

- $ 7.00 Full-time student (personal use only)
14.00 Other individual (personal use only)
42.00 Institution
